ABSTRACT

The present invention utilizes a combination of time division and space switching to logically create 2^n center stage switching circuits in a switch reconfigurable based on the Looping Algorithm, even though the switch includes a non-power of 2 number of center stage physical switches.